UNDERSTANDING SIL INFORMATION

SIL (Sheep Improvement Ltd) is the New Zealand sheep industry's performance recording and genetic evaluation database. SIL estimated breeding value (eBV) and selection index information is provided in some sale catalogue listings. These assist ram selection by giving the best estimate of genetic merit available.

INTRODUCTION TO SIL

Performance and physical appearance of animals are the result of a combination of factors; the genes they get from their parents, management such as feeding, and other effects such as age and rearing rank. To make genetic improvement we need to be able to assess how much of an animal's performance is controlled by the genes alone, as it is only the genetic component of performance that is passed on to the next generation. Visual assessment of animals – or even assessment on an individual animal's performance – can be a poor guide to the genetic merit of the animal.

SIL measures of genetic merit do not tell us everything about an animal. For example, in order to function as a sire, a ram has to be physically sound. Visual inspection of soundness should be used in conjunction with SIL figures to assess whether an animal will perform well as a sire and will produce productive progeny.

SIL terminology can look confusing if you are not used to it. The following explanations of common terms and variables can be used to interpret SIL data with reference to your breeding goals.

KEY DEFINITIONS

Estimated Breeding value (eBV): Breeding values are the best estimate of the animal's genetic value as a parent for traits. They allow rams to be compared with all rams included in the same analysis. This may mean all rams from the same flock or all animals in an across-flock evaluation where there are strong genetic links between the different flocks (see "Interpretation" below).

Estimated breeding values are expressed in the units the traits are measured, weight traits are in kilograms, NLB in lambs per ewe lambing.

Indexes: An index provides a summary of overall economic breeding value of animals. The economic value of each trait is summed to give a total economic value of the ram's genetics. The economic value of a trait depends on the production system, therefore a number of indexes are used to describe different systems. For example, the New Zealand Terminal Worth (NZTW) index describes a system where all progeny are slaughtered. The New Zealand Maternal Worth (NZMW) index describes a system where ewe lambs are retained as replacements for breeding with surplus lambs going to carcass production.

Sub-indexes are sometimes reported. These refer to the economic value for traits of a particular type – e.g. Lamb Growth vs. Wool vs. Reproduction vs. Meat Yield (carcass quality). All SIL indexes are expressed as cents per ewe lambing.

INTERPRETATION

eBVs and selection indexes are a function of the population in which they are calculated. In all cases they are comparable within a single flock.

For every analysis SIL sets 1995 as the benchmark year and the average genetic merit of lambs born in 1995 is set to zero. Therefore, eBVs are measures of genetic merit for a ram compared to the 1995 average for that evaluation. If two flocks had different average genetic merit in 1995 the eBVs would have to be adjusted for the difference to make them comparable.

When selecting a ram that is high genetic merit it is important to first select the flock the ram was bred in. The ram should rank highly within that flock for the key traits you are interested in. Index values provide the best guide to overall genetic merit across traits.

In summary, whichever flock you decide to buy a ram from, be sure to select one that is highly ranked by SIL. This will guarantee improved genetic merit in your flock compared to using rams selected without an accurate assessment of genetic merit.

EXPLANATIONS FOR COMMONLY USED SIL DATA

Abbreviations Definition
eBV	eBVs (estimated breeding values) are expressed in the units the trait is measured in, and are an estimate of the value of the ram's genetic merit for the trait.
eBV Accuracy	Indicates the amount of information used in the prediction of the eBV. Traits that are more heritable and more related to other traits they are predicted from have higher accuracy.
WWT eBV	Weaning weight – “lamb growth”
LW8 eBV	Body weight at 8 months of age – rates animals for post-weaning growth
FATY eBV	(Whole carcass) Fat yield – kg per kg of carcass
EMA eBV	Eye muscle area
EMAc eBV	Eye muscle area corrected for carcass weight – a measure of muscularity
FAT eBV	Weight of fat in carcass
FD eBV	Fat depth 'C
NLB eBV	Number of lambs born
FW12 eBV	Fleece weight at 12 months of age
NZTW index (previously TSO)	New Zealand Terminal Worth is expressed in cents and is an estimate of genetic value for growth (TSG), meat yield (TSM) and survival (TSS).
NZMW index (previously DPO)	New Zealand Maternal Worth is expressed in cents and is an estimate of genetic value for number of lambs born (DPR), lamb survival (DPS), lamb growth + adult size (DPG+A), meat yield (DPM), and wool production (DPW).

Sub-indexes	Economic merit for a trait affecting farm profit e.g. Wool (DPW) or Reproduction (DPR)
NZGE	The New Zealand Genetic Evaluation (NZGE) involves all active SIL flocks, and non-active flocks that provide useful information on pedigree and performance. It objectively “compares” the performance of various traits – making it a powerful source of genetic information for commercial farmers.
Rank	Ranks represent the position in the flock-birth year cohort of rams present at weaning (for WWT eBV), at autumn LW (LW8 eBV), at scanning (meat trait eBVs, NLB eBV & indexes) and at shearing (FW12 eBV).

ANALYSIS

NZGE analysis No. 35854 on 28th Sept 2018 – this evaluation uses multistep integration of genomic data and the original meat module.

INTRODUCING THE NEW ZEALAND GENETIC EVALUATION (NZGE)

In 2017, Beef + Lamb New Zealand (B+LNZ) Genetics has launched a $450,000 upgrade of its genetic engine. As a result, ram buyers and breeders will have access to even better genetic information, when making breeding decisions.

At the core of the upgrade is the move to a single weekly New Zealand Genetic Evaluation – the NZGE. The investment means evaluations can be run more regularly and much faster, thereby feeding information back to ram breeders in a more timely fashion.

The NZGE uses all relevant data available, in all SIL flocks. Evaluations are able to draw on information, such as CT and VIA scanning, therefore providing a more accurate estimate of traits, such as carcass merit.

Results are presented in a uniform way using the NZTW and NZMW indexes, allowing farmers to directly compare rams. In a nutshell, the higher the figure, the better the ram.

4 BEST RESULTS

CLEAN THEM UP

Whenever, wherever.

Great for flystrike, dags or shearing a few.

Use it out the back or just before they go on the truck.

Get the job done, without any hang ups, with the new LANATI Cordfree Handpiece.

TEASE

Get your rams doing two jobs.

Put a NOMATE Harness on behind a MATINGMARK one and you have a temporary teaser.

Teaser use has been proven to give higher lambing percentages as well as earlier and more condensed lambing.

MATE

Join the information age.

Harness your rams with the world's best, MATINGMARK Harnesses before you put them out.

Gather invaluable info for smarter flock and pasture management.

LAMBING

Wean more lambs.

Ensure their survival with the new ADLAM Lambing Harness.

Save ewes with bearings so they can raise their multiples, support ewes that get cast or go down at lambing, and mother on lambs when required.

Do it all with the ADLAM Versatile Lambing Harness.
